ANNOUNCEMENTS
10 August 2009

The Gradebook has your final grades in it. I have to submit those by 7:00 p.m. Monday evening (tonight). Please look at your scores and see if you think I have missed anything or messed up something. Once grades are submitted, they are final. Thanks.

Your Final Projects were interesting. Some of you chose very large companies, but didn't breakdown the large departments. Others chose small companies and showed how one person can perform many tasks. As we noted at the beginning of class, not all companies will have all the FM functions, and some may have them in other departments. All in all, not bad.

Thanks to those 12 of you (out of 20) who took the time to submit a student evaluation. It looks like a couple of you were not very happy; I wish you would have communicated your displeasure to me before the end of the course so we might have worked out your issues. But I guess some don't like to speak up.

I enjoyed the semester, I hope you learned something for your efforts.

Don't forget to check Previous Announcements, click here to review them

Click here for Class Pictorial Directory

Disclaimer

(C) 2009 Southeast Missouri State University